People you should know

Glenn Patey Army Captain

by RALPH RESCHKE
Herald Staff Writer

TERRACE— When you're born into a family that has been involved in the Salvation Army for three generations, it's highly unlikely that you would break family tradition by doing something else, right.

Well, Captain Glenn S. Patey didn't break tradition, and he is now the fourth generation of Salvationists from his family.

Glenn's great-grandfather, Cleophas Patey helped start the Army movement in northern Newfoundland.

He joined the Salvation Army because he had an awareness that God was calling him to perform this sort of ministry for the rest of his life.

His entire family, both father and mother and his one brother and three sisters were pleased that he chose this route.

At 31, Patey considers himself a young gaffer still looking forward to another 40 years before he retires.

He was commissioned as an officer in the Army after completing a two year training program at the Salvation Army College in St. John's Newfoundland, on June 25, 1973.

He met his wife Bonnie at the college and married her in 1975. She is also a fourth generation Salvationist.

A little known fact about Army life is that an officer must marry an officer in the Salvation Army. Anything else, and that officer must get out of the Army.

As an officer he can conduct religious and evangelistic services such as marriages, christening and baptizing babies, and perform funeral services.

"What a lot of people don't seem to realize is that the Army does all these things," he says, "plus the extra activities everyone sees us doing during the course of the year."

One thing he has always accepted is that everyone is in this world for a purpose, and they can only fulfill that purpose when they seek the guidance and wisdom of God.

That's why at a very early age, he sought to find God's direction for his life.

He's worked in a post office, an underground mine, a factory, a hospital, a hydro company but he only found complete satisfaction and fulfillment when he became a Salvation Army officer.

He plans to make the Army a lifetime commitment.

Glenn has two children, Christopher is seven and Patricia is three. She's his motivation for getting out of bed at six in the morning.

His work with the Salvation Army keeps him pretty busy, arriving in the office at 8:45 a.m. he spends approximately 40 to 45 minutes in what he calls a devotional period.

This is when he will study the bible and seek God's guidance for the rest of the day. He then takes 20 minutes to arrange his correspondence for the day and organize his afternoon schedule.

Glenn was transferred to the Terrace area with his wife in September of 1981, but even he doesn't know how long he can make Terrace his home.

"In the Salvation Army, you practically go where they want to put you," he explained, adding that it really isn't as bad as it sounds because Army officers don't have to worry about furniture because they don't usually own any.

When asked what he thinks of Terrace, Captain Patey replied, that "there is an atmosphere about Terrace that makes you feel everyone is your brother and sister. If I have a need for something, I know in two hours that need will be fulfilled."

Skeenaview discussions

by RALPH RESCHKE
Herald Staff Writer

TERRACE— "Keep the one wing open and let the patients stay up at Skeenaview."

That was the message given to two representatives from the Ministry of Health, in Terrace yesterday to listen to area residents voice their concerns over the Skeenaview situation.

Up from Victoria are Dr. Doris MacKay, a medical consultant with the ministry and Peter Melhuish, Ph. D., the Facility Planning and Development Coordinator in the long term care program.

The wing they were talking about is a section of the old buildings that is slated to be torn down when the new Terraceview facility opens in June.

The problem arises from the fact that there won't be enough room in the new building to house all the patients that are currently located in the old Skeenaview extended care facility.

The citizens that attended the meeting expressed concern over the fact that the government is not willing to spend $25,000 that will enable to overflow extended care patients to remain on the present site, and yet at the same time, it is considering rebuilding a ward at Mills Memorial Hospital at many times the cost of the other project.

And this still won't get the patients the proper care because the nursing staff at Mills is hardly prepared to begin dealing with extended care patients.

It was pointed out by some, that the environment at Skeenaview is much more suitable for the care of Terrace's elderly, rather than the ordered regiment the hospital might present.

And one must also consider the patients at Mills Memorial, because even Norma King will admit that the extended care patients are a little noisy sometimes, that this would very likely disturb other patients recovering at the hospital.

It must also be pointed out that the actual move might be detrimental to those who will have to undertake it. Going from an environment that one is used to, to an area that is totally foreign can be a stressful undertaking for the elderly.

The Terraceview Society wants to see that the patients stay at the present location and they have the support of city council, the Terrace and District Community Services Society, the Northcoast Building Trades Group.

The Trades group has stated it gives full support to the Society and should the Honourable Jim Nielson, the Minister of Health, decide to move the patients by whatever means, truck, car, taxi, ambulance, then the Trades group will endeavour to dissuade the drivers of those vehicles from taking part in such a move.

The fact that the government sends representatives to this area should illustrate that the ministry is willing to listen and perhaps even base its decision on what it has heard from the residents of Terrace.

However, the president of the Terraceview society is quick to point out that the ministry has sent a number of representatives into the area and always "listened" but never came up with any concrete recommendations.

She is hoping that a decision will be made soon, because the June opening date is rolling around very fast, and the move will have to be planned soon.

Peter Melhuish says that no firm estimate has yet to be received the cost of renovating the rooms at Mills Memorial and because the ministry is not familiar with how many patients might be transferred to the hospital.

The two, Melhuish and MacKay, will still meet with the Terraceview Society and Mills Memorial Hospital Board.

Cameroon soldiers revolt

PARIS (CP) — Soldiers guarding the presidential palace in Cameroon apparently revolted today in the West African country, informed sources said.

The sources, who requested anonymity, said the palace guards apparently were angered by a presidential order Thursday requiring the transfer of all guards in the northern part of Cameroon. It was not known why they were ordered to transfer, or to where.

The sources in Paris said palace guards who remained loyal to President Paul Biya apparently had requested reinforcements to put down the mutiny.

There was no information on the whereabouts of Biya.

The rebel guards may have attacked the presidential palace and military headquarters, the sources said. They said the mutinous soldiers apparently were being led by a colonel who originates from the north.

The airport in Cameroon's capital of Yaounde was closed.

Cameroon Radio went off the air at mid-morning amid reports of sporadic and at times intense firing in Yaounde, said radio monitors in neighboring Libreville, Gabon.

HEAR GUNFIRE

Western diplomats in Yaounde said by telephone they heard gunfire for two hours in the city of 313,000 people before dawn but were unable to reach government ministers by telephone.

Reuters news agency quoted unnamed Western diplomats in Paris as saying that elements within the Cameroon army staged a coup attempt overnight.

The diplomats said firing was continuing in Yaounde and that the situation was confused. They said they did not know whether there were any casualties but other sources reported several people were killed by gunfire.

The diplomats cited contradictory reports on Biya. Some sources said the president was still in Yaounde, while other reports said he was in the southern region of Kribi, his home area.

Sources in Paris said the Cameroon army chief of staff, a Gen. Semegue, was reported to have been "one of the targets" of the rebel army troops. They said the general, who is related to Biya, was believed to have been arrested.

Biya, a French-trained technocrat, was sworn in last January for a five-year term, after winning the presidential election that month.

He vowed to liberalize the economically booming country's political life after 22 years of autocratic rule by his predecessor Ahmadou Ahidjo.

Alcan clarifies

VANCOUVER— Alcan's vice president for British Columbia, Bill Rich, today called on the federal Department of Fisheries and Oceans (D.F.O.) to clarify for the public the fact that a Discussion Paper, issued by D.F.O., is preliminary and is not based on a full examination of Alcan's proposal for its Kemano Completion Project.

Rich said that because of the volume and complexity of the research required for the final baseline and environmental impact studies, they are only now being completed. "When this data is examined, we are confident that it will answer all of the questions and concerns raised in the Discussion Paper," he said.

Rich said he believes that many people are of the mistaken view that the Discussion Paper, issued by D.F.O. in January, is their final and complete assessment of his proposal. "This is not the case," Rich said. "I believe that D.F.O.

has a responsibility to clearly point out that they are not yet in receipt of all of the information, and that a full technical review has not yet taken place.

"Clearly, the role of the Federal Department of Fisheries and Oceans is to be critical of projects like ours until it is shown that the fisheries resources will be protected," Rich said. "I can understand that, and I believe that we are seeking a full and fair assessment of our proposal based on its technical merits. We've asked D.F.O. to make it clear to the public that such an assessment has not yet taken place," Rich said.

"I must state once again, that our proposal for the Kemano Completion Project is not a case of having to make a choice between the fisheries resource and jobs in the aluminum industry," Rich said. "We've designed our project to allow both."

Union talks break down

VANCOUVER (CP) — Management's insistence that British Columbia's 12,700 striking pulp and paper workers immediately return to their jobs today brought a stormy end to day-long contract negotiating Thursday.

Despite indications that some progress was being made to bring to an end 10 months of negotiations, the parties abruptly broke off talks just before midnight.

The companies demanded a return to work and left the unions with documents outlining their cease-and-desist application to be presented today to the provincial Labor Relations Board.

The two pulp unions, who went on strike Monday when the industry lifted its eight-week lockout, said they would respond today to the management ultimatum.

The 80 union delegates, dressed in jeans, wrinkled plaid shirts and sweatshirts, had held repeated face-to-face meetings with the 25 business-suited management people in a massive meeting room in the plush Hyatt Regency.

"I thought the negotiations were going well enough," said Art Gruntman, regional president of the Canadian Paperworkers Union. "It just about looked like they wanted to break it off."

"And then they did something that the delegates weren't very happy with, they served us with the papers from the Labor Relations Board, which really was a strange thing to do when we thought negotiations were going pretty good."

WILL TALK

Dick Lester, chief negotiator for the 14 companies, said the employers want the 20 mills running and are prepared to continue negotiations "regardless of the (labor board) application."

Lester was forced to speak to reporters over derisive shouts from angry union delegates after emerging from the meeting room.

Looming over the negotiations is the threat that the Social Credit government will impose a contract settlement. Several union delegates claimed the industry was in constant contact with Labor Minister Bob McClelland, but Lester denied it.

McClelland said Thursday in Victoria the government is ready to take whatever action is necessary to get the workers back on the job. He said officials in his ministry are already working on a contract but that imposing it would be done only as a last resort.

Legislation passed Tuesday ordering mills to reopen and union members to go back to work also provides that a contract settlement, approved by the legislature, may be applied.

SOME PROGRESS

Gruntman said some progress had been made at the talks "and I really thought we weren't that far away, but I guess they had the idea of this ultimatum; either finish today and the mills will be up tomorrow or else."

Farmers market

TERRACE— Started last year, the Skeena Valley Farmer's Market will again be offering absolutely fresh, homegrown fruit and produce to the residents of Terrace this year.

Organizer Margot Hayes says that the market will be set up in the parking lot located behind the Terrace Public Library, and begin operating on May 12 till mid-October.

More than 23 local farmers will be taking part in the event, which will happen every Saturday from 9 a.m. till whenever the produce runs out.

Something new for this year will be the addition of a Flea Market, although that portion of the Farmers Market will be limited to five tables.

Available to residents will be eggs, smoked meat, fish, fresh produce, fresh fruit, home baking, locally produced honey, home-made jams, and there's usually someone with a table full of fudge. Arts and Crafts people are also welcome.

Membership in the market is $25 per year or $3 per weekend.

For more information, contact Margot Hayes at 635-3278 or Diane DeRoo at 635-9794.

Dr. Peter Melhuish and Dr. Doris MacKay listened to the concerns voiced by nearly 20 concerned residents of Terrace in regards to the on-going Skeenaview problem. The two representatives from the Ministry of Health met today with hospital board members and will take the information they've been presented with back to Victoria for evaluation. Behind Dr. Melhuish is Norma King, President of the Terraceview Society, the organization that invited the ministry to Terrace.

Jobless numbers climb again

OTTAWA (CP) — Unemployment climbed back above 1.5 million last month, the latest economic jolt to shake Canadians who are already facing a sagging dollar and renewed increases in interest rates and inflation.

The number of jobless climbed by 65,000 to 1,541,000 in March and the jobless rate, adjusted for seasonal variations, rose to 11.4 per cent from 11.3 per cent in February, Statistics Canada said today.

Unemployment is at its highest since April 1983 when there were 1,582,000 people unable to find work and is only down 133,000 from the revised all-time high of 1,674,000 for March last year.

And the seasonally adjusted rate is at its highest level since August 1983 when it was 11.6 per cent.

Late last month an optimistic Finance Minister Marc Lalonde criticized opposition MPs for being pessimistic and suggested at the time that good news was on its way.

Today's figures shatter those expectations.

They show there has been no real increase in jobs since last September, said James McGrath, Progressive Conservative employment critic.

Canadians have lost confidence in the government and the economy and a change in leadership is needed, said McGrath, who called for a quick election.

But Ian Waddell, New Democratic Party job-creation critic, said "We need a national commitment to full employment by the end of the decade... and that would mean completely revamping the Canadian economy."

The Vancouver Kingsway MP, whose party unlike the Tories trails badly in the popularity polls, rejected the call for an election.

"Putting in the Conservatives, the Tweedle-dees for the Tweedle-dees Liberals is not going to make any difference," he said.

The jobless rate has been climbing steadily this year, after the decline in unemployment was halted in the final three months of last year at 11.1 per cent.

The rate climbed ominously to 11.2 per cent in January and to 11.3 per cent in February.

The jobless rolls now are at their highest level since April 1983 when there were 1,582,000 people unable to find work and are only down 133,000 from the revised all-time high of 1,674,000 for March last year.

And the seasonally adjusted rate is at its highest level since August 1983 when it was 11.6 per cent.

The jobless rate rose by 0.5 to 20.3 per cent in Newfoundland, by 0.4 to 14.7 in New Brunswick, by 0.3 to 9.4 in Ontario, by 0.8 to 8.4 in Saskatchewan, and by 0.4 to 10.7 in Alberta.

The rate decreased by 0.5 to 12.7 per cent in Nova Scotia, by 0.5 to 13 in Quebec, by 0.3 to 8.2 in Manitoba, and by 0.1 to 14.4 in British Columbia.

The rate remained unchanged at 12.5 in Prince Edward Island.

The largest decrease in employment was in the construction industry where 17,000 jobs disappeared; there were marginal decreases in the trade and services industries.

At the same time, the number of jobs in primary industries, other than agriculture, rose by 10,000.

MEN HIT HARD

Unemployment, adjusted for seasonal variations, increased in March by an estimated 10,000 for men 25 years of age and over and by 6,000 for women in the same age group; it decreased by 12,000 for men and women under age 25.

The jobless rate increased by 0.3 to 9.1 per cent for males 25 and over, by 0.1 to 9.8 for females in the same age group. It declined by 0.3 to 20.1 for young men and by 0.4 to 16 for young women.

Unemployment increased by 14,000 in Ontario, by 4,000 in Saskatchewan and by 5,000 in Alberta. In Quebec, unemployment declined by 16,000 and there was little change in the other provinces.

Space shuttle launched

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Five astronauts rode the U.S. space shuttle Challenger into orbit 466 kilometres above the Earth, highest yet for a shuttle, and set off today in pursuit of a crippled solar observatory for a daring first attempt to repair a satellite in space.

The mission, in which a free-flying astronaut will put a jet-powered backpack to its first practical use, began with a rumbling liftoff on schedule at 8:58 a.m. EST.

Accompanying the crew were 3,300 honeybees and the shuttle's heaviest cargo so far — an 11-tonne package of experiments, including 13 million tomato seeds, that will be dropped off in orbit and picked up next year.

The Canadian-developed robot arm will be involved in the satellite repair exercise and will place the bees in orbit, and a Canadian-designed movie camera will be tested.

Commanded by Robert Crippen, the first astronaut to make three shuttle flights, the 100-tonne space plane rose from its launch pad swiftly on the powerful thrust of its engines and darted eastward over the Atlantic Ocean.

As the astronauts soared into orbit, the target satellite was half a world away, 18,500 kilometres in front of the shuttle. Crippen will lead Challenger on a chase of 1,320,000 kilometres over two days until he moves to within 60 metres of his goal.

It was the 11th shuttle launch, the fifth for Challenger. The flight is to end next Thursday with the second landing back at Cape Canaveral. Crippen is in charge of an all-rounder crew of pilot Dick Scobee and mission specialists Terry Hart, George Nelson and James van Hoften.

Their journey puts a record 11 people in space at the same time, including five cosmonauts and an Indian astronaut who are travelling on the Soviets' Salyut-7 space station. The old mark of eight was set in February when five astronauts and three cosmonauts were aloft.

With the skies so crowded, NASA had only seven minutes, 45 seconds of leeway for today's launch. The United States and Soviet Union have an agreement not to come within 320 kilometres of one another's spacecraft, and liftoff any later would have put the shuttle and space station closer than that.

NO CONTROL SYSTEM

Challenger's mission calls for it to rendezvous with the Solar Maximum Satellite, which has been wobbling and spinning slowly, since losing its control system nearly three years ago.

It will be Nelson's job, wearing one of the backpacks, to cast free from the orbiting shuttle, flit 60 metres away and attach a device to Solar Max so it can be hauled into the cargo bay for repairs.

The astronauts' first major task will come Saturday, when they use the shuttle's 15-metre remote-controlled Canadarm to place in orbit the 11-tonne satellite carrying 57 science, technology and materials experiments which will operate in space until another shuttle crew recaptures the payload and returns it to Earth 10 months from now. That payload includes the tomato seeds whose growth back on Earth will be studied for any effects of weightlessness.

The bees, safely tucked away in a box, will be kept aboard the shuttle to see whether they can build honeycombs in weightlessness as well as they do on Earth.

On Sunday morning, Crippen and Scobee will track down Solar Max and Nelson and van Hoften, in spacesuits, will move through an airlock into the open cargo bay. Hart, operating the shuttle's Canadarm from inside the cabin, will reach out and snatch the payload and bring it into the bay.

Van Hoften and Nelson will replace a faulty control system that prevents Solar Max from pointing precisely at the sun. The spacewalkers will be outside again two days later to switch out a bad electronics box on one of the satellite's seven experiments. If the repairs work, Hart will use the arm to return the payload to a productive orbit.

The astronauts will also test a camera called IMAX, for a movie to be shown on the five-storey-high screen in the Smithsonian's Air and Space Museum in Washington. The IMAX camera was designed by IMAX Systems Corp. of Toronto.

Raging killer mine fire

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — Miners began sealing off several sections of one of the world's deepest coal mines today to prevent a raging fire from spreading further under the Atlantic Ocean floor and jeopardizing the economic lifeblood of this Cape Breton Island community.

Concrete-block walls were being built in five areas throughout Cape Breton Development Corp.'s No. 26 Colliery to starve the blaze of oxygen.

The walls will entomb Ronald McDonald, 42, the only miner trapped in the 10-kilometre-deep mine. The father of two was given up for dead because he was working below the fire with no escape route.

Devo officials said Thursday they decided to seal the mine because the fire had spread to all three entrance shafts, leaving no way to get "at the blaze. Their decision was an attempt to save the company's second biggest coal mine.

With 1,400 employees on its payroll, including 1,100 miners, No. 26 has been the major employer in this coal town of 23,000 for half a century.

The town has an unemployment rate of 20 per cent and only two other industries — an Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. heavy-water plant whose work force has been reduced to almost nothing by world market conditions, and a fish plant that employs about 350 people.

HOPING FOR BEST

"I know the people are just sitting back waiting and hoping for the best, but unfortunately I don't think they're going to get the best," said Mayor Bruce Clark.

"If in fact it is lost, it would be the worst economic disaster the community has ever faced. We've never known from one end of the day to the next when our collieries would be closed, either by economic conditions or by conditions such as we have here today, but we have always been able to come back."

Once the mine is sealed, nitrogen and carbon dioxide will be pumped behind the walls to help smother the flames, apparently fueled by old timbers holding up the mine roof.

The fire started Thursday morning near a coal conveyor belt about halfway down the mine, whose slanting shafts extend 10 kilometres under the ocean from this seaside town. The cause is not known but officials suspect a faulty bearing on the conveyor belt.

CAN'T PREDICT

There is no way of predicting how long the fire will take to burn itself out, said Doug Shields, head of Devo's coal division.

"I wish I could give you an answer that is nice and simple. How long does it take to create an inert atmosphere? It is hard to guess and we're not talking about a couple of weeks."

It could be a month before any decision on the mine's future will be made, but Devo president Steve Rankin said he was optimistic after Shields briefed him on his visit to the mine.

"I get a glimmer of hope from him that with some luck, perhaps the fire will exhaust itself before it gets too far into the deeps. We have not abandoned it."

The fire was discovered by a group of about 40 miners who were returning to the surface after working overtime through the night. Putting on air packs, they continued on up. On the way, they met the day-shift miners heading down and turned them back. Between 350 and 375 miners were evacuated.

Officials on the surface talked by telephone to McDonald, who was operating a fan below the fire. He told them "the smoke was heavy and he couldn't see," said spokesman Don MacIsaac. His only route to the surface was through the burning area.

Newspaper strikers frustrated

VANCOUVER (CP) — The more than 900 reporters, editors, circulation staff and librarians out of work because of a strike at the Vancouver Sun and Vancouver Province are frustrated and disturbed, Jim Young, president of the Newspaper Guild, said Thursday after an information meeting.

The guild was a member of the Joint Council of Newspaper Unions until it asked that a provincially-appointed mediator be brought into the contract dispute with Southam-owned Pacific Press Ltd., which publishes the two papers.

With mediation set to start Monday, the guild's members are refusing to cross pickets set up by the 400 members of the joint council who went on strike March 28. The council includes the Printing Pressmen's Union, the Wholesale, Retail Union, the International Typographical Union, the Mailers' Union and the Graphic Communications International Union.

Young said he shares his members' frustration, "but more because of the company's unwillingness to sit down and bargain than anything else."

However, as some guild members left the meeting Thursday they said they were angry that 400 employees can keep the majority from working.

Guild members also collected their cheques for $100 a week from the guild's defence fund. Strike pay for the other unions is $75 and $80 for most, while the typographical and mailers' union members are being paid $250 a week.

Young said the guild is committed to the mediation process and it hopes it can take a leading role in resolving the dispute.

He said even if the guild reaches an agreement with Pacific Press, its members probably won't be able to work until the other five unions settle.

"I think the best way we can put pressure on the joint council to reach an agreement is to lead. If we can get down to productive talks with the company, it may open all kinds of doors," Young said.

There have been no negotiating sessions since the strike started.

George Townsend, chief negotiator for Pacific Press, said Thursday the company made it clear at the last meeting that a three-year contract with no increase in the first year, 3.5 per cent in the second year and five per cent in the third year was only a starting position.

Townsend said: "I take the position that we left the door open for negotiations that day."

However, he said Pacific Press won't consider increases similar to those negotiated in Calgary last July. The Southam-owned Calgary Herald agreed to wage increases of eight per cent in the first year and 7.5 per cent in the second year.

The council asked for a two-year contract with raises of eight per cent each year. Pacific Press employees' last raise was 13 per cent effective March 1, 1983, with 17 per cent the year before.

Under the old contract, minimum salary for senior reporters was $701.54 a week, while senior printers received a base hourly rate of $18.92 for a 34-hour, four-day week.

The strike is a boon to community newspapers in the Vancouver area. The Courier, which went daily during the eight-month strike in 1978, was 132 pages Wednesday — more than three times its average size — and it increased its free circulation to 100,000 from 52,000.

Phil Hager, co-publisher of the newspaper, said demand for advertising space is forcing the Courier to have a Sunday edition as well as its usual Wednesday paper.

Las Vegas strike gets ugly

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Hotel workers marched outside 32 resorts Thursday and a second picketer was hit by a car as lawyers went to court to limit picketing in the fourth day of a bitter walkout along Las Vegas' gambling strip.

One hotel warned strikers they would be replaced if they don't return to work by tonight.

Metro Police Lieut. Jim Chaney said a woman carrying a sign was hit by a car driven by a worker trying to get through a picket line outside the MGM Grand Hotel on Thursday afternoon.

Chaney said the driver stopped his car when it was struck with a sign. After his car was hit a second time, he tried to back up and hit the woman, knocking her about a metre in the air.

The woman, also not identified, was taken to hospital. The driver was arrested and charged with battery with a deadly weapon.

This incident followed two stormy days which included a battle at the Las Vegas Hilton and an accident Wednesday in which another picketer was run over by a car at the entrance to Caesars Palace.

Since four unions representing 17,000 people walked out at dawn Monday, 119 people have been arrested, most on charges of impeding traffic.

The strike by unions for culinary workers, stagehands, bartenders and musicians has darkened showrooms, but many casino gaming workers are not union members. A hotel spokesman said weekend bookings at major resorts are "above 100 per cent."

The Holiday Inn Centro Strip said it sent letters to 325 striking union employees, saying they had a right to strike. But the letter from hotel vice-president Joe Francis

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,

The letter (Mar. 27) from Bill Homburg regarding the Marcos regime in the Philippines was like a breath of fresh air compared to the usual distortions provided by our news media on foreign affairs.

Many years ago, when I was young and foolish enough to believe what I was told by the media, I believe that the Chinese communists were simple "agrarian reformers", and that Chiang Kai Shek was a corrupt dictator. Once the communists had seized power, with the help of the then-American government and news media, a virtual news blackout was imposed. It was not until many years later that I learned, with horror, that these same "agrarian reformers" had murdered some 64 million of their fellow citizens in the process of fastening their grip on that unhappy land.

This same scenario has been repeated again and again in the Western press. Every anti-communist government, whether it be in South Vietnam, South Korea, South Africa, the Philippines, or elsewhere, has been smeared on one pretext or another.

Once the communists have seized power, as in Vietnam, almost nothing is heard of the bloodbath taking place, as in Cambodia, where nearly half of the population was slaughtered. It has been said that if someone deceives you once it's his fault, but if he deceives you twice it's your fault. The news media has done little in this area for the past fifty years other than to deceive the public, and it is high time that the Canadian people awake to the deception being played upon them. A tiny group of people who control the money and the media are playing the rest of us for suckers, and we ourselves are the ultimate intended victims of this charade.

It is important for the public to realize that communism has not been sweeping the world because of its intrinsic merits. It has been sweeping the world because it has been financed from the beginning by international bankers such as the Rothschilds and Rockefellers and their allies - who also control the major news media.

The Rothschilds poured money into the Bolshevik seizure of power in Russia, and today the largest branch bank of the Rockefellers' Chase Manhattan Bank is located at One Karl Marx Plaza in Moscow. We are told endlessly by the managed media that communism and capitalism are enemies. Yet the Rockefellers have been exporting Soviet oil from the Caucasus to Western Europe ever since the Revolution, and the individual who today holds a franchise on all the oil sold in Moscow is named Kissinger - the younger brother of Rockefeller agent Henry Kissinger.

If today there is a superficial appearance of relative prosperity in communist countries such as Russia, China and elsewhere, it is because the assets of the Western world are being siphoned off by the bankers and transferred to those nations to bolster their sagging economies. And if your friendly local banker has become somewhat less friendly lately, when you seek a loan from him, it is because the banking system itself has been impoverished by ill-advised loans to communist and third-world countries that will never - indeed, can never - be repaid. Without constant infusions of trade and financial aid the communist systems would collapse, as they cannot even feed their own people. Under the Czars, Russia exported grain, and one of Hitler's objectives in his "Drang nach Osten" (expansion to the East) was to seize control of the Ukraine - "the breadbasket of Europe." Every year since the Revolution, the Western press obediently tells us that because of "bad weather" the Russians need to import millions of bushels of grain and other foodstuffs from the hated "capitalist" world. An astute observer might note that the Russians have now had over sixty years of "bad weather" - and that this weather can be expected to continue as long as the communists remain in power, notwithstanding their weather modification experiments.

Basically, the Western world has not been selling, but giving, its food to the communist countries. Our banking system is being drained of funds to make unrepayable loans which are used to buy our produce. Australian farmers, for example, in recent years shipped grain to Russia and, in due course, received payment. They naturally assumed that the money came from Moscow. But no such thing happened, and no money actually left Russia. Instead, international bankers in Australia simply created new money with which the farmers were paid. Australia, therefore, not only lost its grain, but suffered an inflated currency as well, and was impoverished in both ways.

These same international bankers, who have probably caused more hunger and human misery than any comparable group in recorded history, are now promoting a program called "World Hunger", and seeking the support of Christian churches. Like the Devil, they quote scripture out of context to support their plan. They remind us of our duty to feed the hungry, and recommend the establishment of a "world food bank" to feed the starving millions they have helped to create. What they don't tell us is that they plan to control the world food bank in the same manner as they presently control the money, the media and the field of energy. They believe that when they also control the food supply of the world they will have effective control of the people as well. Whether the Canadian people are sufficiently dim-witted and apathetic to permit this takeover to occur remains uncertain.

What is certain is that it is vital for the public to break their minds loose from the thought-control of the mass media, and understand that the assigned role of the controlled media is to keep the rest of us divided, confused, misinformed and preoccupied with games and trivia until the takeover can be completed. A good case in point is the CBC, which I have long thought could be more appropriately called "the Communist Broadcasting Corporation." Foreign news usually, and domestic news frequently, is twisted on a daily basis almost beyond recognition. On any important question, the CBC can usually manage to come up with two leftist professors - perhaps one from Toronto and another from New York - to discuss "both sides" of the issues. It will broadcast a snippet of information - possibly something President Reagan has said - and then, with a straight face, say, "Tass, the Soviet News Agency, had the following to say..." We are then subjected to a communist propaganda statement, with no opportunity afforded for any answer or refutation. There is no need for the communists to have an outlet for their propaganda in Canada when in effect they already have one, financed by the Canadian taxpayers.

Let there be no mistake - even as knowledge of the truth is an essential prerequisite of freedom, even so a constant diet of falsehood and deception are the essential tools of those who would enslave us. There is no legitimate reason for any intelligent person to waste his time on publications or programs that he has learned from experience distort or omit the truth when there is a growing number of smaller publications that are much more reliable. And we should not support any politicians in the forthcoming election unless they have first given an iron-clad guarantee that, if elected, they will use every means at their disposal to help regain control of our banking system and the CBC, so that these institutions will become servants of the people, rather than the instrumentalities for our enslavement.

Very sincerely yours,
Howard T. Ennis, Jr.

Thornhill volunteer fireman, Ed Williams has things well under control. A fire underneath the Old Skeena Bridge Thursday afternoon was quickly subdued by the Thornhill fire department. Cause of the blaze was credited to a burning cigarette tossed from a car window. Thornhill Fire Chief Jim Piper suggests that people exercise caution when discarding burning materials, especially with the summer season coming up. Earlier, Thornhill fire department had responded to a grass and brush fire on Churchill Drive.

Reagan bomb threat

NEW YORK (AP) — President Reagan's departure from the New York Hilton Hotel was delayed briefly Thursday night while a police bomb squad removed a suspicious package that turned out to be a briefcase containing "pencils, pens, books, no explosives."

White House spokesman Mark Weinberg, who described the incident as a threat situation, said the delay was about 10 minutes.

"There was no bomb," said Lieut. James Robert of the Midtown North Precinct. "A package was found in a dressing room at 8:45 (p.m. EST), and the bomb squad was called because he (Reagan) was there."

John Santos of the police bomb squad said the package was removed from the hotel.

Weinberg said during the 10-minute delay, that Reagan and his wife, Nancy, remained in a "holding room" at the Hilton, where the president had addressed a dinner of the New York State Federation of Catholic School Parents.

Weinberg said Reagan was aware of the situation.

"It was determined during the president's day-long visit to New York."

DISTRICT OF TERRACE NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Zoning By-law Amendment Regarding Neighbourhood Gas Bar (CS) Zone

(MOHAWK OIL REZONING)

TAKE NOTICE that an amendment to Zoning By-law No. 401-1966 has been proposed to provide for the land use category, Neighbourhood Gas Bar (CS) Zone to the Commercial section, and an application has been made to change the zoning on the property and land outlined and shaded on the accompanying map from (C1) Central Commercial to (CS) Neighbourhood Gas Bar.

Legal Description: Parcel B of Lot 4, D.L. 361, Range 5, Coast District, Plan 1117

Civic Address: 4760 Lakelse Ave., Terrace, B.C.

The intent of the proposed rezoning application is to create a new zone called Neighbourhood Gas Bar (CS), which would contain regulations governing the size, shape and siting of buildings or structures, density and off-street parking and loading requirements. The new zone would permit the use and construction of buildings for a gas bar and convenience store combination on the site.

The Public Hearing will be held on Monday, April 16, 1984 at 7:30 p.m. in the Terrace Municipal Council Chambers, 3215 Eby Street, Terrace, B.C.

The proposed zoning amendment by-law may be viewed by any and all interested parties during normal business hours (8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) Monday to Friday, at the Terrace Municipal Office, (Planning Department), 3215 Eby Street, Terrace, B.C.

Any person(s) wishing to voice their opinions regarding this application may do so in writing to Mayor and Council and/or in person the evening of the Public Hearing.

TAKE NOTICE and be governed accordingly.

Manitoba's teachers want school sex education

WINNIPEG (CP) — In spite of government resistance, Manitoba's 12,000 teachers say they would like sex-education to be part of the general school curriculum.

Audrey Burchuk was one of three executive members of the Manitoba Teachers' Society who addressed the special federal committee on pornography and prostitution as it completed the western leg of a series of public hearings on Thursday.

Burchuk said teachers would prefer the family-life component of a new pilot health curriculum in Manitoba to be mandatory. Education Minister Maureen Hemphill made it a course on drugs optional, allowing local school boards to ignore both if they choose.

Improved sex-education courses were something that a number of people at the hearings said could be developed to help build positive attitudes in the young, instead of the negative approach to sex nurtured by pornography.

Committee chairman Paul Fraser, a Vancouver lawyer, said Manitoba was one of the few provinces that seemed to be addressing the issue at all, even in a pilot project, and he asked to be kept informed of progress.

Most of the 20 representations made during the committee's two-day stop in Winnipeg favored of tougher laws to control the spread of pornography.

Spokesmen for church organizations also said they favored laws to make prostitution illegal, although feminist groups argued against such restrictions.

PRESENTS VIEWS

A few men appearing on their own behalf shared some unusual opinions with the commission.

One man linked regulations to control pornography to the spread of communism. Another said he didn't want to see police get any more power, so he preferred to leave prostitution and pornography unregulated.

But the general consensus was that the federal government should act quickly to eliminate what several speakers described as the pollution of pornography.

"As a mother and grandmother I am concerned for the safety of our children," Marion Lepinsky, president of the Mothers Union of the Anglican Church of Canada, said Thursday.

Police spokesmen defended their record in prosecuting obscenity cases and battling prostitution in Winnipeg although they admitted under existing laws, some problems.

northern delights presents: eating better

by BEVERLEY HOLDEN

What do you eat for breakfast? Our mainstay is toast made with homemade bread, cut thick and toasted only lightly to minimize loss of B vitamins and amino acids, then spread with peanut or almond butter for a complete protein. Another favorite choice is pancakes or waffles made from whole food ingredients and whipped together in 5 minutes, about 3 minutes longer than a packaged pancake mix and about 10 times more delicious, nutritious and personally satisfying. Try these out over the next two weeks:

Favorite Pancakes
Stir together:
2 c whole wheat flour
1/2 c wheat germ
1 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
Beat in:
2 eggs
2 1/2 c milk
2 tsp. oil
Optional:
1 apple, chopped or 1 c. blueberries
Cottage Cheese Pancakes
Place in bowl: 2 c. ricotta cheese (or cottage cheese blended smooth)
Beat in one at a time: 6 eggs
Add:
1/2 c flour
1/4 tsp salt
Cook like regular pancakes. These are fantastic.

Sesame Waffles
Stir together:
1 1/2 c whole wheat flour
1 c. unhulled sesame seeds
3 tsp. baking powder
3/4 tsp. salt
Add:
1 1/2 c milk
3 tsp. honey
1 egg
3/4 tsp. vanilla
Bake in preheated, oiled waffle iron.

A few words about ingredients. (1) Always use whole wheat flour, preferably stoneground (remember my last column?) (2) It is important that wheat germ be refrigerated and fresh, as it deteriorates rapidly. Rancid wheat germ is actually unhealthy. (3) Try ricotta cheese. You'll love it. (4) Use unhulled sesame seed for full nutritional value and to keep the waffles from sticking. (ugh!)

I have received a letter requesting help with making and using yogurt. Thank you, E. Dobson. I will do my best with yogurt in the next column. Remember to send letters c-o The Herald.

You can purchase most of the above ingredients at Northern Delights Natural Foods: freshly ground whole wheat flour, fresh wheat germ, alum-free baking powder, sea salt, cold-press oils, unhulled sesame seed, pure natural honey, and pure vanilla extract. Come in, see what is available, and meet the friendly staff and members of Northern Delights.

ANNOUNCEMENT

School District No.88 (Terrace) announces
Kindergarten Registration Day will be on Wednesday, April 11, 1984

for children living in Terrace, Thornhill, Kitwanga, and the Hazelton area.

It is important that children register at this time to assist with planning for September.

Kindergarten children registering must be five years old by December 31, 1984. Birth certificates are required.

All Kindergarten children living west of Munroe Street in Terrace should register at Parkside School, 3824 Eby Street. All other Kindergarten children should register at the primary school nearest their home.

Please bring your child's immunization record to registration. Skeena Health Unit will provide questionnaires at the school for parents to fill out. They will be picked up by Skeena Health Unit staff following registration.

The times for Kindergarten Registration are:
9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon; 1:00 p.m. - 2:30 p.m.
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11

"The Winnipeg police have been very successful in their prosecutions of pornography," Dan Jones, the former head of the city's morality squad, told the committee.

Jones argued against repeal of existing laws on prostitution and said they should be strengthened to make it easier to get convictions.

As for a suggestion that at least two prostitutes be allowed to live together and bring customers home, Jones said the representatives of the Manitoba Action Committee on the Status of Women who made it were misguided.

A spokesman for a Franco-Manitobian women's group told the committee that tougher anti-pornography laws may not wipe out sexism but women deserve some sign their rights are respected.

"Men have their rights, no more," said Jannick Belleau, who made her presentation in French.

"Women have their rights, no less."

The committee split into two parts to hold hearings in Regina and Winnipeg this week. It now moves to Ottawa.

Even though north showed no particular enthusiasm for the slam south still thought it was worth a try. After the bidding this contract should be a cinch because west better have at least five and five in the red suits.

West leads the ten of clubs and you win with the queen and test the trump suit. Cash the Ace in hand to preserve entries to the dummy. West follows to a spade so with no worse than a three - one break in the trump suit prospects look pretty good.

Now enter the board with the trump king and see if clubs are as intractable as you expect. What do you sluff on the club king?

The temptation here is to get rid of your losing diamond. If you do that the contract cannot be made. Surprisingly enough you must keep the diamond loser and drop a couple of hearts.

There is still one trump out, but ignore it - you must keep one trump on the board. Cash the diamond ace and lead another diamond. West, as expected from his bid, must win this and is now in quite a pickle. He has only hearts and diamonds left so he must hand you your contract. A heart lead gives you a free finesse and a diamond lets you trump on the board and sluff your heart queen.

Your slam is home - congratulations if you would have resisted the temptation to sluff that diamond loser.

Great goaltending leads to first round upsets

Great goaltending often leads to shocking upsets in Stanley Cup play. Just ask New York Islanders and Boston Bruins, both of whom have fallen victim to hot netminders in their National Hockey League playoffs.

The Islanders fired 45 shots at Rangers Glen Hanlon and he stopped all of them in a 3-0 Ranger triumph Thursday night that evened their best-of-five divisional semifinal at one game each.

Meanwhile, Boston managed 27 shots on rookie goalie Steve

Penney, who blocked all but one in a 3-1 Canadian decision, moving Montreal within one victory of a stunning upset of the Bruins.

Elsewhere in best-of-five series, Quebec Nordiques, Edmonton Oilers, Washington Capitals and Calgary Flames all grabbed 2-0 leads, while Minnesota and Detroit copied the Rangers by tying their respective series 1-1.

Quebec dropped Buffalo 6-2, Edmonton edged Winnipeg 5-4 in overtime, Washington beat Philadelphia 6-2, Calgary defeated Vancouver 4-2, Minnesota beat Chicago 6-5, and Detroit took St. Louis 5-3.

STOP POWER PLAYS
Hanlon picked up his first Stanley Cup victory after seven defeats and the Rangers thwarted nine Islanders power plays. It was the first home loss in 10 games for the Islanders.

Reijo Ruotsalainen and Peter Sundstrom connected on power plays, while Mark Pavelich also scored for the Rangers.

"It's not unusual to run into a hot goaltender in the playoffs and that's part of what happened to us tonight," said Islander sharpshooter Mike Bossy, who missed on seven shots. "Hanlon made some great saves."

So did Penney, especially in the third period as Boston pressed for a tying goal. But the rookie, who was 0-4 in a late-season stint with the Canadiens, held firm.

"Twenty-eight hours ago, we were in terrible shape," said Montreal's Bob Gainey, who had two assists. "Now we're in good shape. You figure it out."

Mario Tremblay scored only 16 seconds into the game, Mats Naslund poked in a rebound allowed by goalie Pete Peeters, and the Canadiens — who suffered through one of the worst seasons of their storied existence — held on.

Nordiques 6 Sabres 2

Quebec, which was 6-1-1 vs. Buffalo in the regular season, won for the second successive night on the road. Dale Hunter had two goals and the Nordiques built a 4-0 edge they easily protected. "They've jumped on every error we've made," said Buffalo's Lindy Ruff. "They had two chances in the first period and they scored on both. You can't give a team like that a lead." Michel Goulet, Andre Savard, Anton Stastny and Wild Paemiet also scored for Quebec.

North Stars 6 Black Hawks 5
A 40-minute brawl following the second period got Minnesota's Willi Plett in the right mood. "When I get ticked off I usually play better," said Plett, after scoring one of three third-period goals for the Stars. "When (Hawks goalie Murray) Bannerman speared me, it got me really mad." Also scoring for Minnesota were Al MacAdam, Neal Broten, Gordie Roberts, Curt Giles and Keith Acton.

Jeff Larmer, Steve Larmer, Rick Paterson, Denis Savard and Darryl Sutter replied for the Hawks.

Red Wings 5 Blues 2

Rookie Steve Yzerman broke a 3-3 tie with a backhander, then Danny Gare clinched Detroit's road victory with his second goal of the night, into an empty net. Randy Ladouceur and Greg Smith also scored for the Red Wings.

Capitals 6 Flyers 2

Washington has shown a penchant for coming from behind. The host Capitals trailed twice before Craig Laughlin's backhander slipped through Philadelphia goalie Bob Froese 2:53 into the third period to snap a 2-2 tie. The Capitals have outscored the Flyers 13-0 in the final periods of their last five meetings.

Flames 4 Canucks 2

The Flames also struck quickly to turn their game around. Jim Peplinski and Mike Eaves scored 1:03 apart in the second period. The Canucks lost even though goalie Richard Brodeur made 42 saves. Allan MacInnis and Doug Risebrough also scored for the Flames. Dave Williams and Jere Gillis replied for Vancouver.

Oilers 5 Jets 4

Edmonton defenceman Randy Gregg's low shot from the left boards got between the legs of Winnipeg goaltender Marc Behrend 21 seconds into overtime. Winnipeg led for most of the game until Glenn Anderson and Finnish rookie Raimo Summanen scored 1:46 apart to tie it midway through the third period.

Attlinger nails semi-final

DULUTH, MINN. (CP) — Peter Attinger became the first skip to nail down a semifinal berth at the men's world curling championships Thursday night with one draw to go, then took a verbal swipe at North American sweepers.

Topping the preliminary standings at the Air Canada Silver Broom is nothing new to Attinger. He did it both in 1974 and 1979 — both times in Bern — but failed to get on to the championship podium.

He set the stage for yet another first-place finish with a come-around draw in the 10th that saddled American Bruce Roberts with his third loss, 6-5, and bumped his round-robin record to 7-1.

The Swiss skip said earlier in the day he wasn't concerned about the corn brooms being used by the Americans in the 10-team tournament. Several teams have decided their use because of the quality of the brooms that leave the sheets littered with chafe and straw.

Thursday night Attinger matched straws with the Americans and won.

"A couple of years ago, all North American teams used corn brooms," Attinger said. "Now they are just too lazy to use them again."

"There are advantages to having straw on the ice, but there's much more work. If the advantage is for you, then it's worth having to work."

AUSTRIA WINLESS

Following Switzerland were Sweden, 6-2, with a group of four at 5-3, including Canada, Norway, the United States and West Germany. Scotland was 4-4, Italy 2-6, Denmark 1-7 and Austria, 0-8.

In other eighth-round action, Sweden's Per Lindeman went an extra end to post a 5-4 win over Mike Riley of Canada, Keith Wendorf of West Germany topped Elgil Ramsfjell of Norway 8-3, Mike Hay of Scotland edged Italian Andrea Pavani 3-2, and Christian Thune of Denmark scored his first win, 7-3, over an Austrian team depleted by injuries and illness and being skipped by federation president Gunther Hummell.

Earlier in the day, Canada edged Norway 6-5, West Germany beat Italy 6-1, Sweden beat Denmark 7-4, the U.S. romped 11-5 over Austria and, Switzerland took Scotland 5-3.

Hummell was recruited when lead Ernst Egger fell and pulled muscles in his chest. He was moved to skip after Gunter Marker was admitted to hospital with a nervous disorder that tournament officials said was aggravated by tensions brought on by the competition.

FAMILY TEAM

Attinger, who directs a team made up of his three brothers, won't get much support for his theory from most of the teams, which have switched to using push brushes.

Attinger had the straws working in his favor Thursday night with several of his stones making quick turns at the end to hide behind rocks guarding the front rings.

The Americans, who opened the week-long tournament with four straight wins, lost their next two matches to rinks — Sweden and Norway — using customized brushes made available by former world champion Al Hackner of Thunder Bay, Ont.

With a semifinal berth, the Swiss can relax today against a Norwegian team fighting to survive through to the playoffs in their ninth-round matchup.

Wendorf, meanwhile, says he won't use the unique brushes, designed by Hackner and that have proved successful to date in negating dirt on the ice, against the Americans today.

The loser will be eliminated from further play.

Jabbar surpasses Chamberlain

When Wilt Chamberlain's magnificent 14-year National Basketball Association career ended in 1973, he had scored 31,419 points — a record many thought would never be surpassed.

However, like many supposedly untouchable standards before and since, Chamberlain's record is history because of the brilliance, consistency and stamina of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

And while he might not be able to do all the things he could five or 10 years ago, Abdul-Jabbar might put the record he now owns out of sight, at least for the time being, if he continues to play the way he has this year.

Abdul-Jabbar, who turns 37 on April 16, signed a two-year contract with Los Angeles Lakers before the current season. He said at the time, and has repeated since, that he would retire when the contract expires.

That would mean he will have played 16 years in the NBA and logged more than 1,200 games.

If he changes his mind, plays a 17th season and stays healthy, he will become the all-time NBA leader in total games played.

How well has the seven-foot-two centre played lately? He was named the NBA's player of the month for March, a month in which he averaged 26.2 points and 7.3 rebounds in his team's 15 games.

In each of those 15 games, he scored a minimum of 20 points, increasing his streak of scoring in double figures to 530 straight games.

Abdul-Jabbar grew up in New York City as Lew Alcindor and had an extraordinary high school career at Power Memorial where his teams went 95-6 over four years, including a 71-game winning streak.

ALWAYS A WINNER

In college, he led UCLA to three consecutive NCAA titles (1967-69) and was the tournament's most valuable player all three years. The Bruins were 88-2 during his varsity career and he was a three-time unanimous All-American.

It has been more of the same since he began his NBA career in the fall of 1969 with Milwaukee Bucks and was named the league's rookie of the year.

After playing six seasons with the Bucks, he was traded to the Lakers before the 1975-76 campaign and is about to lead them in scoring for the ninth straight year.

By then, he was known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, having changed his name in 1971.

He has won six league MVP awards and been selected to play in the all-star game 14 times. He is one of 12 players in league history to have won a championship with two different teams — the Bucks won it in 1970-71 and the Lakers won it in 1979-80 and 1981-82.

In addition, Abdul-Jabbar ranks first in league history in blocked shots and field goals made; fourth in games played, field goals attempted, rebounds and scoring average; among the top five in field goal percentage; eighth in free throws attempted, and seventh in free throws made.

It's been quite a career, and it's not over.

Indians force catchers to circle the wagons

American League catchers had better circle the wagons before Cleveland Indians wind up circling the bases. The Indians ran wild on new Texas catcher Ned Yost, swiping six bases Thursday night in a 7-3 victory over the Rangers. The six steals tied the record for the most ever against the Rangers — the Indians twice stole third — and three of them led directly to runs. Yost was acquired from Milwaukee last December in a trade for catcher Jim Sundberg, a six-time Gold Glove winner for his fielding prowess.

"We're going to be a running team," said Cleveland manager Pat Corrales. "I'd be disappointed if we didn't steal over 200 bases this year."

Elsewhere in the AL, it was Kansas City Royals 15, New York Yankees 4; Detroit Tigers 7, Minnesota Twins 3; Toronto Blue Jays 13, Seattle Mariners 5; and Boston Red Sox 7, California Angels 4.

Otis Nixon and Brett Butler stole two bases apiece for Cleveland and Tony Bernazard and Julio Franco each had one. Yost threw out only one would-be base-stealer, and a TV replay showed Butler was safe on that one.

"I think the umpires were starting to feel sorry for them," Butler said. Both sides defended Yost.

"Yost is a decent catcher," said Butler. "We were stealing off the pitcher, not stealing off him; he has a good arm."

Texas starter Dave Stewart agreed that "it was my fault. Any time a runner steals a base, it's not off the catcher. You have to give him a chance."

The Indians took a 3-0 lead in the fourth inning on Ron Hassey's RBI single and a two-run single by George Vukovich. They made it 5-0 in the fifth inning on Franco's RBI single and Pat Tabler's sacrifice fly. Texas scored all its runs off winner Neal Heaton in the bottom of the fifth on Gary Ward's solo homer and a two-run blast by Yost.

Royals 15 Yankees 4
Frank White drove in four runs, Steve Balboni slugged a three-run homer and every Kansas City starter scored at least once. Larry Gura, whose 18 losses led the major leagues last year, had a perfect game through five innings but walked Ken Griffey leading off the sixth and one out later Tim Lincecum singled.

The Royals scored nine times in the second inning — Darryl Motley contributed a double and single, White had a two-run triple and Don Slaught a two-run double — and hammered Shane Rawley and Bob Shirley for seven runs apiece in rolling to a 14-0 lead after three innings. Balboni's homer came in the fourth. The Yankees scored all their runs in the seventh, three on Rick Cerone's homer.

Tigers 7 Twins 3
Kirk Gibson hit a three-run homer and Alan Trammell homered, tripled and singled twice for Detroit. Dan Petry scattered five hits over seven innings for the Tigers, who rallied against Frank Viola after falling behind 2-0 in the second inning.

Trammell's homer made it 2-1 in the third and Gibson's homer put the Tigers ahead 4-2 in the fourth. Detroit added a run in the sixth on Chet Lemon's RBI double, and scored twice in the seventh on Darrell Evans' RBI single and a bases-loaded balk by Larry Pashnick.

Blue Jays 13 Mariners 5
Lloyd Moseby drove in three runs and George Bell and Dave Collins collected three hits each in Toronto's 18th attack. The Blue Jays erupted for six runs in the second inning to chase Jim Beattie.

Steve Garvey carries a big bat. But he's more interested these days in talking about little things he thinks can make San Diego Padres a contender in the National League West.

The veteran of many a pennant race with Los Angeles Dodgers drove in four runs Thursday, two on a third-inning home run, as the Padres ran their record to 2-0 by rallying from a 5-0 deficit to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 8-6.

But he talked afterward about a potential double-play ball he hit in the sixth that turned into a mere forceout when newly acquired Graig Nettles slid hard into Pirates shortstop Dale Berra. That allowed Terry Kennedy's sacrifice fly to score the insurance run.

"Those are the kind of things that good teams do," Garvey said. "Atlanta has done that the last couple of seasons and that's what the Dodgers used to do when I was with them all those years."

Added Padres manager Dick Williams: "Nettles broke up a double play ball by Garvey, then we get the sacrifice fly for a cushion. This is a 25-man team and this is a team victory."

DODGERS TOP CARDS
In the only other National League games Thursday, Los Angeles Dodgers topped St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 on Mike Marshall's three-run homer in the 12th and Chicago Cubs beat San Francisco Giants 11-7.

Pittsburgh led 5-0 after 2½ innings, with four of the runs coming on a grand slam by rookie Doug Frobel off Andy Hawkins in the top of the third.

Garvey triggered the Padres comeback in the bottom of that inning with a two-run homer off Jose DeLeon, then slashed a two-run single to cap a five-run fourth that gave San Diego a 7-6 lead. Then came that insurance run in the sixth.

Luis DeLeon pitched hitless ball for 21½ innings to pick up the win, then Williams turned to his new bullpen weapon, Goose Gossage, to pitch the ninth.

Dodgers 5 Cards 2
Marshall cracked his opposite-field shot into the right-field bleachers off a 2-0 pitch from Jeff Lahti. It followed Terry Whitfield's leadoff single, a sacrifice by Ken Landreaux, and an intentional walk to Pedro Guerrero. Marshall has driven in six runs in two games.

Peterson has bright future

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Lauri Peterson's caddy believes the young golf pro has a bright future on the Ladies Professional Golf Association Tour.

"If she can make the changes in her swing she's working on now and keep progressing, she'll be one of the best players on the tour," said caddy, Paul Peterson, who also happens to be her husband.

His prediction looked good Thursday, as she fired a 68 to take the first round lead in the women's richest tournament, the $400,000 Dinah Shore.

Using a new wrinkle in her swing — cocking her wrists sooner in her backswing — Peterson clipped four strokes off par over the Mission Hills Country Club course to forge a one-shot lead over Kathy Whitworth and Patty Sheehan.

Coming off a rookie season, the 23-year-old,

Arizona State product said she has a chance to win the prestigious tournament, but added, "There's still 54 holes to go."

Being a husband and a caddy has its negative as well as positive aspects. "She can say things to me she couldn't to another caddy and blow off some steam," he said. "I may take more abuse than other tour caddies, but it goes with the territory."

Heading into the second round of the tournament, Juli Inkster, Patti Rizzo and Judy Clark were two strokes off the pace.

A group of seven — including defending champion Amy Alcott, Donna Caponi and Hollis Stacy — carded 71s.

Stan Stewardson has been appointed head basketball coach of Simon Fraser University after a four-year absence.

athletic director Lorne Davies announced Thursday, Stewardson, who coached the Clansmen from 1975 to 1980, takes over from Mike McNeill, whose contract was not renewed following the 1983-84 season.

Davies said in a prepared statement that the Clansmen were in need of better recruiting and recruiting is a long suit for Stewardson, who attracted players like Jay Triano and Mike Jaekel to SFU in the 1970s.

The Clansmen had a 60-53 record during Stewardson's five years on the bench.

Announcement

School District No. 88 (Terrace) announces

Registration

for new students in

French Immersion

Kindergarten, Grade 1, 2 and 3, for children living in the Terrace-Thornhill area.

Registration will be at Kiti K'Shan Primary School, 4730 Graham Avenue on TUESDAY, APRIL 10, 1984 from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

It is important that children register at this time to assist with planning for September.

Kindergarten children registering must be five years old by December 31, 1984. Birth certificates are required.

Please bring your Kindergarten child's immunization record to registration. Skeena Health Unit will provide questionnaires at the school for parents to fill out. They will be picked up by Skeena Health Unit staff following registration.

Children entering Grade 1 Immersion need not have been registered in Kindergarten Immersion, although it is desirable to have done so. Grade 1 and 2 Immersion are necessary prerequisites for entry into Grade 2 and 3 Immersion respectively.

Lakers celebrate new record with win

It was a rather routine shot, something that he had done thousands of times. But when Kareem Abdul-Jabbar sank a soft sky hook Thursday night, it put him where no National Basketball Association player has ever been before.

That shot with 8:53 left in Los Angeles' game with the Utah Jazz in Las Vegas pushed the Lakers' great seven-foot-two centre past Wilt Chamberlain and into the record books as the league's all-time leading scorer with 31,421 points.

"I just faked the pass to whoever was out there, and I just shot it," Abdul-Jabbar said simply. He went into the game needing 21 points to set the mark, and said teammates "started looking for me when I got within a basket."

After scoring 16 points in the first half, he made one basket in the third quarter.

Going into the fourth quarter, with Los Angeles enjoying a large lead, Lakers coach Pat Riley asked him if he wanted to come out of the game and wait to set the record Friday night at home against Kansas City. GETS IT DONE "I told him 'no, I'd rather get it done,'" the six-time NBA most valuable player said. Abdul-Jabbar tied Chamberlain's record with a dunk with 10:45 left and then, after missing a sky hook, the Lakers got the ball back and passed to Magic Johnson, who waited for Abdul-Jabbar to get down the court. Johnson tossed the ball to Abdul-Jabbar on the right baseline and, with the crowd roaring, the centre turned to his left and made the shot over two defenders. Abdul-Jabbar's shot gave him 22 points — he made 10 of 14 shots from the field and both free-throw attempts — and Riley then replaced him with Mitch Kupchak.

Abdul-Jabbar's career has spanned 15 seasons, first with Milwaukee Bucks, then with the Lakers.

With just one more season left on his contract, Abdul-Jabbar, who will turn 37 later this month, may be in the twilight of his career but he is not showing it.

A former rookie of the year and an NBA all-star 14 times, he is still averaging 21.2 points a game this season even with reduced playing time granted as a concession to his advancing age.

In other games, Milwaukee topped Philadelphia 113-103, Golden State beat Denver 125-124, Cleveland downed Chicago 114-99 and Houston shaded Portland 129-114.

Bucks 113 76ers 103 Forward Marques Johnson scored nine of his 18 points in the fourth quarter to help Milwaukee. Teammate Bob also had 18. Andrew Toney scored 29 and Moses Malone 28 for Philadelphia.

Cavalliers 114 Bulls 99 Lonnie Shelton scored 21 points and reserve Paul Thompson added 19 as Cleveland sent Chicago to its ninth straight defeat, matching the longest losing streak in the NBA this season. World B. Free of the Cavalliers had 13 points to become the 46th player in NBA history to score 14,000 points.

Rockets 129 Trail Blazers 114

Ralph Sampson scored 27 points and Lewis Lloyd added 22 as Houston ended Portland's eight-game winning streak. Jim Paxson scored 26 points for Portland.

Warriors 128 Nuggets 124 Mike Bratz, who averages 6.9 points a game, scored all of his 23 points in the fourth quarter as Golden State ended Denver's 13-game home-court winning streak.

Garret regains face mask

VICTORIA (CP) — Vancouver Canucks goaltender John Garrett will regain his face mask today, RCMP said Thursday.

His brightly colored, molded mask disappeared March 30 during the Canucks' last game in the National Hockey League's regular season at the Pacific Coliseum against Minnesota North Stars. Garrett has worn the mask for nine years, repainting it whenever he changed teams. The Minnesota and watched the game from the bench. RCMP said no charges were anticipated as the youth had been co-operative in returning the mask.

YOUR INDIVIDUAL HOROSCOPE

FOR SATURDAY, APRIL 7, 1984

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Some difficulties arise in negotiations with others. A revised home plan looks promising. Family members are helpful.

TAURUS

(Apr. 20 to May 20) You may know more about a subject than an adviser, so rely on your own judgment. Spending could easily get out of hand.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20) Difficulties regarding a work project are a signal that a new approach is needed. Evening finds you at your best.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22) Feelings are easily bruised in romance, but it's never too late to say you're sorry. Stimulating times come with friends after dark.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22) Social life may not live up to expectations. Use time alone constructively. Intellectual work leads to important insights.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Put aside career concerns for the present. Others respond readily to your ideas. Socialize with those on the same wave length.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be careful dining in unfamiliar restaurants to avoid a health-upset. Some career developments now are in your favor.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Sex seems to be a sensitive issue, but the way is clear for meaningful discussions. Use intellectual potential.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Hurt someone's feelings and this person will withdraw. Down-to-earth thinking leads to a correct decision about money.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Friendship and business do not combine favorably today. Love, though, lights up the evening. Partners are in accord.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Work affords you more satisfaction than leisure activities. Inspiration comes, but you must make the most of it.

PISCES

(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) An acquaintance is not to be trusted. Otherwise, social prospects look good. You're in harmony with a loved one.

YOU BORN TODAY are an intellectual with strong intuitive powers. Sometimes you have difficulty reconciling these qualities. Your natural critical acumen brings you success as a researcher, though you work best when motivated by an ideal. You have writing and speaking abilities, but are given to bouts of depression. You do better on your own than in partnership. Your search for the truth often takes you in both scientific and religious directions. Though somewhat aloof, you're cooperative. Still, you can be temperamental! Birth date of: Billie Holiday, singer; Walter Winchell, columnist; and James Garner, actor.

FOR SUNDAY, APRIL 8, 1984.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Problems at home require your attention. If you don't attend to responsibilities, other family members register complaints.

TAURUS

(Apr. 20 to May 20) Others could drain you mentally. Stay away from those who tire you, though it's all right to help out a spouse or close tie.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20) Though some financial improvement can be expected, your extravagance can get out of hand. A friend may be troublesome.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22) Today's aggravations call for you to spend some time at a favorite haunt where you can relax and feel secure.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22) You may overlook something right in front of you: Escapist tendencies need to be curtailed. Work brings peace of mind.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You may need to cut down on social activities. Avoid frivolous types. Don't spread yourself too thin; be selective.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You need to distinguish between genuine opportunity and fly-by-night schemes today. Be conservative.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You're right to stick by your principles, but be tolerant of others who have opposing viewpoints. Live and let live.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may overextend yourself financially. Sit down, pause, and think before making decisions. Don't waste resources.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Little things crop up to spoil relationship harmony. Your patience is needed. Be silent and the storm clouds pass quickly.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) You may pursue a couple of false leads before you realize that opportunity exists in terms of the status-quo.

PISCES

(Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) Trying something new for fun today may be a disappointment. In this case, the same old routine will prove satisfying.

YOU BORN TODAY have a good business head, though you're often drawn to creative occupations. You have executive talents and would do well as head of a corporation, especially one connected with the arts. Your ability to promote a product brings you success in advertising, banking and publishing. You also have a flair for design, but must learn to finish what you start. You like a good argument and may have success in law and public speaking. Birth date of: Jacques Brel, composer; Betty Ford, former first lady; and Ilka Chase, actress.

FOR MONDAY, APRIL 9, 1984

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Do those things you have to do around home base. Then, be sure to go out for the evening. Romance awaits you with open arms.

TAURUS

(Apr. 20 to May 20) Partners work well together as a team. That there's no place like home may be your feeling this evening. Enjoy domesticity.

GEMINI

(May 21 to June 20) You'll make important headway on the job, though perhaps not as much as you'd like. You sparkle among friends tonight.

CANCER

(June 21 to July 22) Initiative works for you in romance and charm for you on the job. There may be some expenses today that just can't be avoided.

LEO

(July 23 to Aug. 22) A partner may not go along with you regarding some changes at home. Evening favors cultural pursuits or creative activity.

VIRGO

(Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You're very busy early in the day. Later, you'll find things more relaxing. Get important phone calls out of the way.

LIBRA

(Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) There may be some haggling about money, but overall career prospects pick up. Either entertain others or go out for the evening.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Late evening brings important career developments. Make plans for a get-together that has business overtones. Romance is also likely.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do further investigation about investments. You may receive a travel invitation. Step out for delightful times after dark.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Things go pretty much your way in relationship matters, but you have to take the initiative. Home matters prosper too.

Ann Landers

I come from a family that considers itself very close. We often get together — aunts, uncles, cousins, sisters, brothers, in-laws, grandparents, nieces, nephews... a real clan.

My mother's relatives think it is okay to ask any kind of questions because we are all "kin."

Must I tell my aunts how much I weigh, whether or not I enjoy sex and how much money my husband makes? Do they have a right to know if we intentionally spaced our children 15 months apart?

There are times I would like to tell them to take a flying leap into the river. My mother says their questions show caring and concern. I am not so sure. What do you say? — Lottie

Simply because people are related does not give them a licence to ask nun-uv-er-bizzizz type questions, which includes all of the above.

Your mother is wrong and your instincts are right. Follow them.

Loves Texas
Everything is bigger in Texas. Even the jerks. The guy from Austin who told us northerners to stay out of their state got me mad.

Three years ago I read an ad in a magazine for educators. There was a shortage of teachers in Texas, it said. Things were pretty slow in Michigan so I went to Dallas to see whether or not I would like it.

The people were friendly and the weather was a lot better than what I left, but the first person I met was a woman who managed a hash joint between Fort Worth and Dallas. She said, "If I owned both hell and Texas, I would live in hell and rent out Texas." Strangely enough, she, too, had come from Michigan. I decided to stay a while and make up my own mind. Well, Ann, I did and I love it here. Tell your readers to ignore the knockers. Everybody should decide for himself what suits him. I did and I am — Happy

You told 'em, Honey, and I thank you.

Sucking thumbs

The woman who wrote to confess her thumb-sucking habit has my admiration. At least she is honest and is not hurting anyone.

If the person will look around, she will see hundreds of adult thumb-suckers. The thumb, however, appears now in another form. It is a cigarette, cigar or pipe.

It's unfortunate that those smokers didn't stick with their thumbs. They would live longer and be more pleasant to have around. — Complaint

No truer words were ever spoken. The most disheartening news, according to Dr. Vincent DeVita, head of the U.S. National Cancer Institute, is that smoking by women nearly doubled the lung cancer death rate between 1970 and 1980. And lung cancer is expected to pass breast cancer next year as the leading cause of death among females.

My husband and I are professionals who earn a decent living. He doesn't drink, smoke, gamble or chase women. He is helpful at home and goes to church regularly. We have all the trappings of success. Friends say I am lucky to have such a fine husband, but he is driving me crazy.

At this moment he has brought us to the brink of bankruptcy. He was always a spendaholic, but the death of a dear friend last year has exacerbated the situation. He now must have everything immediately.

We have had so many fights about his ridiculous purchases that to maintain a semblance of peace in our home money is rarely discussed. This does not help matters at all, because now I have no idea what new bills will show up at the beginning of the month.

He sees nothing wrong with his behavior and refuses to accept counseling. I have promised our teenage children that I won't do anything rash until they have completed college. But my resentment is growing by leaps and bounds and each day I feel more like a trapped animal.

How can I protect myself from the inevitable? Is there a way out of this mess? Thanks for being there to unload on even if you have no solution. — Panicked

Your husband is a compulsive buyer. This is an illness in the same league with alcoholism. See an attorney about protecting yourself legally from his irrational behavior. Also ask your banker about a financial counselor to whom you can go for advice. You need to know how to protect your income and your assets if you intend to continue to live with this man.

You have helped a lot of people through the years. Now will you help us? We are the folks who handle the phones for the auto clubs.

The language we have to listen to is unbelievable. Everybody who calls is angry — as if it's our fault. I ask you, Ann, are we to blame if people do dumb things, such as neglecting their autos so they break down, running out of gas or clocking the keys inside?

We are happy to send someone to rescue them and we tell them so in a pleasant, reassuring way. So why are the callers so abusive? Why do they yell at us? It seems no one ever asks politely if we will send the truck. They all scream and use profane language.

Please print his complaint. I have never seen a letter on this problem in all the years I have been reading your column. — A Dispatcher Those callers who use abusive language aren't mad at you. They are mad at themselves.

You are the first person they talk to after the car breaks down or they discover they've done something stupid. This makes you the handiest target for all that stored-up rage. Remember the old French proverb, "To understand all is to forgive all."

The only time you realize you have a reputation is when you are not living up to it and somebody takes the trouble to notice.

I am 13 years old and read your column every day. My mom is in training to counsel people who have alcohol problems.

A few years ago you printed a poem that I loved. It is Mom's favorite, too. Will you print it again? — T Here it is again. It's one of my favorites, too. Thanks for asking.

Positively Negative

We drank for joy and became miserable.

We drank for sociability and became argumentative.

We drank for sophistication and became obnoxious.

We drank for friendship and became enemies.

We drank to help us sleep and awakened exhausted.

We drank to gain strength and it made us weaker.

We drank for exhilaration and ended up depressed.

We drank for "medical reasons" and acquired health problems.

We drank to help us calm down and ended up with the shakes.

We drank to get more confidence and became afraid.

We drank to make conversation flow more easily and the words came out slurred and incoherent.

We drank to diminish our problems and saw them multiply.

We drank to feel heavenly and ended up feeling like hell.

Our 24-year-old daughter moved back into our home because she had to "get her life together."

That was over a year ago. Shelly had just broken up with a man with whom she lived for 10 anxiety-filled months.

She confided in us that she had to get away from him because he abused her verbally and physically. When she left him, he moved to another city.

Since Shelly has been under our roof she has not paid one cent for room and board, although she makes very good money. We are aware that she has been sending the creep a cheque every week and recently took out a sizeable loan for him.

When Shelly returned from her last trip to visit this man, her head was bandaged and she has been having headaches ever since. We have urged her to get professional help, but she says, "I don't need it — I can handle the problem on my own."

This situation is tearing us up. Can you help us? — Windsor, Canada

You can help yourselves by derailing your daughter's gravy train. Why do you allow her to leech off you while she goes into hock for a man who beats her up?

Obviously the girl is sick and is making you sick, too. You add nothing to her self-esteem by allowing her to behave in this shoddy manner.

Yesterday's Cryptogram — NUISANCE DRUMMER'S CLEAR DILEMMA: TO BEAT OR NOT TO BEAT.
Today's Cryptogram clue: E equals W.

The Cryptogram is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

PRINCE RUPERT GRAIN LTD.

Challenging Career Opportunity

PROCESS SYSTEMS SUPERVISOR

Prince Rupert Grain Ltd. is undertaking the construction and operation of a major modern export grain terminal.

Our terminal operations has an immediate opening for a capable and energetic individual who is seeking an opportunity for an action oriented maintenance engineering career. At Prince Rupert Grain you'll find an atmosphere which emphasizes individual responsibility and team participation. This position reports to the Terminals Manager and is located in Prince Rupert.

You will be responsible for both day-to-day and long-term operation of the process control systems. This includes co-ordination of electronic maintenance with an emphasis on the management of control system problems from the repair, and "work around" perspectives. Key technical elements of this function include the development and documentation of troubleshooting routines, expedient bypass procedures, and detailed action plans to repair system and hardware failures. You will be an individual who appreciates the need for documentation in terms of creating technical histories of system failures to assist you in establishing a pro-active approach to the maintenance of the process control systems.

At PRG, you will be overseeing the maintenance of electronic and software systems which may represent the most advanced use of process control technology to a material handling application.

The successful candidate must have a minimum of an engineering technologist diploma and a background which displays extensive experience with sensors, process control instrumentation, cabling, programmable controllers (Allen Bradley), process control computers (DEC VAX/PDP) and communication devices.

You will interface with managers and employees at all levels of the organization and must be able to direct and supervise unionized employees in a plant setting. Your strong communication and human relations skills will position you to deal with pressure situations through the effective co-ordination of the efforts of senior management, the workforce and outside technical support groups.

Prince Rupert Grain offers a competitive compensation package which includes a comprehensive employee benefit programme, and pension plan. Relocation assistance is available.

If you feel you have the ability, experience and spirit to become part of our team, please send your resume, including employment references and salary expectations to:

Manager, Human Resources
Prince Rupert Grain Ltd.

Gossip Column

Q. Is it true that Robert Wagner and his girlfriend, actress Jill St. John, created a scandal in London recently by their amorous behavior in public? — Y.R.

A. Not at all. Wagner and St. John recently visited London together, but they were't alone. Along on the trip were Wagner's two daughters — Natasha and Courtney — from his marriage to the late Natalie Wood, and reports are that Robert and Jill were the souls of decorum with the children. He and Jill left no doubt about their fervent feelings for each other, but public displays were absolutely ruled out.

Q. We were impressed with Jill Clayburgh's powerful emulating as a young Israeli lawyer in Costa-Gavras' new film "Hanna K." Didn't Jill play a similar role in a different movie which we saw just a few years earlier? — L.K.

A. You're close. In "First Monday in October," Clayburgh was cast as a fictional first female Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. Despite much media attention due to the extraordinarily coincidental timing of Sandra Day O'Connor's appointment to this very position, that film drew mixed reviews, and hence lost much of its topical excitement and box office potential.

tempted — no mean feat, when constantly surrounded by such caloric treats! Apparently, this discipline has been a contributing factor to his present physical shape.

Q. Why was Jayne Kennedy upset that a black Miss America was chosen? Is she concerned that another beautiful black woman might upstage her? — H.J.

A. That's nonsense. Jayne tells me her first reaction to Vanessa Williams' good fortune was "shock." Kennedy won the Miss Ohio title in 1970, the first black to win the statewide beauty pageant. But, claims Jayne, the day after she won the crown, prizes and promises of jobs suddenly disappeared. Jayne says her "shock" now is a pleasant one since Williams is already garnering publicity and acclaim as the most popular Miss America in years.

Q. We enjoyed Christopher Walken's dynamite acting in the new movie "Brainstorm." I've read that handsome Chris grew up in the environs of a family-owned bakery, so how on earth has he managed to remain slender? — G.B.

A. One of Walken's classmates at a school for professional child actors recalls that the Academy Award-winning star (who was then known as Ronny) never really had to combat a sweet tooth as a kid. Whenever a friend celebrated a birthday, the Walken family (who owned a bakery in Astoria, Queens) graciously made it a practice to contribute a cake, and only on such special occasions was Chris likely to be
